ABOUT ME

Arina (born on February 18, 1993) is an Austrian singer-songwriter and independent artist. She achieved success in the German-speaking area after releasing "Better Now" from her first EP "A+".

The song reached over 200k streams within a few weeks and now she is about to hit 1 million streams on all her channels. She also appeared on TV shows, several live gigs and interviews.

With "Come Over" she took her young solo career one step further and gained attention on Austrian and German radio for the first time. She achieved another milestone with her pop RnB single "Queen". The song climbed to the top of the iTunes' charts and reached #1.

Now, a year later, Arina is back with a new song: "This year was a challenging year because I wanted to continue writing and recording a lot of songs, but I was completely blocked by my full-time job as a kindergarten teacher." I love to sing about women empowerment, the courage to change and self-love. So what kind of role model would I be if I didn't even stick to my own messages? I needed to move on and put all my heart and soul in my music again. Now I can finally tell my story and be myself again!" The new song will be released in fall 2023.
